

ଅଞ୍ଜଳି

ANJALI 2013: DURGA PUJA MAGAZINE

Anubhab Das (10 years) - left and right

Roshni Ray (12 years)

Greater Binghamton Bengali Association

invites you with your family and friends to

Durga Puja 2013

On October 5 & 6

Venue: Indian Cultural Centre,
1595 NYS Route 26, Vestal, NY 13850

An entire weekend of Indian classical, pop, bollywood, folk and devotional music and other artistic traditions from various parts of India. A very talented group of local children will also narrate the story of Goddess Durga through a play.

Mega Cultural Events

Pratibha Singh Baghel
Finalist SaReGaMaPa
2009

Saturday evening

Kanika
Pandey

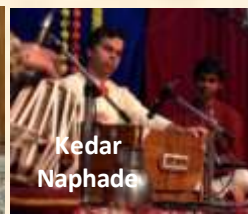

Dibyarka
Chatterjee

Baalavikas Youth Group

Apratim Wajumdar

Kedar
Naphade

www. Binghamtonpuja.org

ARTIST BIO: Gopal

Neil Sen (aka GOPAL) is a renowned contemporary Bengali artist in Houston, TX. Neil has done numerous exhibition all around the country to showcase his painting to the art lovers of Indian Origin. He has created illustrations for books & magazine covers. Gopal paints with a flurry of colors and goes into meticulous details using a broad range of styles and medium depicting the human beauty especially in its female form. He currently holds the position of Director of Arts for three institutions : Anjali Art Academy, Sugarland Artist Alliance and Kala Bhavan Art Academy.

He is presently creating numerous commissioned works for the Indian diaspora audience around the country. Please check his website at : www.redblueart.com

We greatly appreciate and acknowledge his contribution of the front and back covers for Anjali 2013.